Al Yamamah Steel Industries Co

Profitability will continue to remain under pressure; TP at SAR37/sh

Al Yamamah Steel Industries Co (Yamamah) Q2 2022 revenue came in at SAR448mn and was down 1.0% y-o-y and was in line with our estimate of SAR451mn. Revenue was impacted by lower volume in both the construction and the electricity segments. Gross profit and operating profit fell by 33.2% y-o-y and 36.4% y-o-y respectively and were impacted by higher increase in cost of sales, relative to revenue, due to higher raw-material prices. However, the fall in margins were broadly expected and going forward, we expect margins of the company will continue to come under pressure. In FY2021, the company earned an average gross margin of c.22%, which we feel is not sustainable and we expect the same to come under pressure and fall to c.15% in FY2022. Construction activity in the country have come under pressure due to increasing commodity prices and we expect the prices to remain high for some time. As a result of this, we expect the volumes in the construction segment will continue to come under pressure. Given these, we expect the profitability of Yamamah will come under pressure for the next two years, post which the performance is likely to stabilise, with an improvement in the electricity segment. Overall, we reduce our target price to SAR37 per share from our earlier target price of SAR46 per share but maintain our rating at 'Neutral'.

Q2 results: Gross margins of Yamamah fell to 15.0% in Q2 2022, corresponding to 22.3% in Q2 2021, though it was an improvement from 14.3% a quarter back. The fall in margins were in line with expectations, given that the levels achieved in 2021 were unlikely to be sustainable. Net income margins, fell to 7.8% in Q2 2022, compared to 13.2% a year back, and 7.3% in the previous quarter.

Valuation: We value the company based on an equal mix of DCF and relative valuation. The DCF based target price has a 2% terminal growth and 8.3% WACC and comes to SAR40/sh. P/E-based relative valuation has an 15x multiple and gives a target price of SAR35/sh. Thus, we have revised our target price for the company to SAR37/sh, a downside of 0.3%, which implies a "Neutral" rating. The key downside risks are oil price weakness, fall in average realization, and an adverse movement in raw material prices and the inability of the company to pass on the same.

Explanation of Al Rajhi Capital's rating system

Al Rajhi Capital uses a three-tier rating system based on absolute upside or downside potential for all stocks under its coverage except financial stocks and those few other companies not compliant with Islamic Shariah law:

"Overweight": Our target price is more than 10% above the current share price, and we expect the share price to reach the target on a 12 month time horizon.

"Neutral": We expect the share price to settle at a level between 10% below the current share price and 10% above the current share price on a 12 month time horizon.

"Underweight": Our target price is more than 10% below the current share price, and we expect the share price to reach the target on a 12 month time horizon.

"Target price": We estimate target value per share for every stock we cover. This is normally based on widely accepted methods appropriate to the stock or sector under consideration, e.g. DCF (discounted cash flow) or SoTP (sum of the parts) analysis.

Please note that the achievement of any price target may be impeded by general market and economic trends and other external factors, or if a company's profits or operating performance exceed or fall short of our expectations.
